Rentals United was built upon a simple idea: making a channel management software that is easy to use and access. We have expanded on that idea, and now offer a growing family of 3rd party services that work together with Rentals United to improve workflows. From setting the right price via yield managers to automatically sending messages to guests or scheduling housekeeping services, our integration suite is growing. Today we distribute over 250,000 vacation rentals worldwide.

At Rented.com, we believe that the most valuable asset available is time; and we're determined to provide exactly that. Whether it's by freeing homeowners from the time they would otherwise lose managing their property themselves, or helping property managers and realtors more efficiently grow their business so they can spend more time focused on delivering exceptional guest experiences; we're giving our customers more time for the things they love, one property at a time.
